Two by Two' due at Gavilan

Biblical history the way it never was is what "Two by Two" is all about. The San Jose Civic Light Opera company will present the musical Sept. 9-10 in the Gavilan College Theatre.

"Two by Two" comes to the area under the sponsorship of the Gilroy Community Theatre, which produced this summer's production of "Sugar."

Playwrite Richard Rodgers has filled the musical with comedy, a change from most plays in this vein. His Broadway production, which starred Danny Kaye, was a Tony award nominee.

Noah, played by Hal Grant, is assigned the task of providing for the survival of every species in the world. The way the 600-year-old gets the job done is the play's theme.

"Two by Two" is the second production of the Civic Light Opera season, and the only one coming to Gilroy.

The Theatre Angels will host a reception Sept. 9 at Gavilan after the performance.

Tickets are available through Dick Brahn's, Plaza Drugs, the Music Tree and Crispino's.

BIBLICAL MUSICAL — Animals are not the only creatures to assemble in pairs on Noah's Ark, as Valri Jackson and Michael Zimmerman illustrate in "Two by Two," Richard Rodgers' Biblical musical, which will be presented at Gavilan College Theatre on Sept. 9-10 at 8 p.m. The San Jose Civic Light Opera production, directed by George Costa, will appear locally at the invitation of Gilroy Community Theatre. The musical depicts the lighter side of life on the ark as Noah leads his passengers through perilous waters. Tickets are available at Dick Brahn's, Plaza Drugs, Music Tree and Crispino's.
