

SVCT's James and the Giant Peach

Morgan Hill Times

Lora Schraft/Chief Photographer

James & the Giant Peach Written by Roald Dahl, dramatized by Richard R. George Performances: matinees at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 27, 28, Nov. 3, 4, 10, 11, 17; Evenings at 8 p.m. Oct. 27, Nov. 2, 3, 9, 10, 16, 17 Where: Morgan Hill Community Playhouse, Monterey and Fifth streets, Morgan Hill Tickets: General admission $22, seniors $18, student $15. Buy tickets BookSmart, Gilroy Welcome Center, Morgan Hill Community and Cultural Center.

From left, Logan Lacerda, playing the role of James, Kaitlin Rooney, playing the role of Centipede, Jake Smith, playing the role of the Old Green Grasshopper, Sabrina Bohnsack, playing the role of Glowworm, Rachel Kogan, playing the role of Ladybug, Melinda Colbert, playing the role of Earthworm and Audrey Rubio, playing the role of Spider perform during dress rehearsals for the London cast of James and the Giant Peach presented by the South Valley Civic Theater.

Makena McElroy, playing the role of Aunt Spiker and Annabella Stewart, playing the role of Aunt Sponge, perform with members of the cast during dress rehearsals for the London cast of the South Valley Civic Theater production of James and the Giant Peach.

From left, McKenzie Colbert, playing the role of Glowworm, Hana McElroy, playing the role of Spider, Katie Lincoln, playing the role of Centipede, and Sydney Ogden, playing the role of Earthworm, perform during dress rehearsals for the New York cast of the South Valley Civic Theater production of James and the Giant Peach.

Nathan Foster, playing the role of James, reacts to the growing peach during dress rehearsals for the New York cast of the South Valley Civic Theater production of James and the Giant Peach.

From left, Sierra McKenna, playing the role of Captain, Samantha Barnes, playing the role of First Mate, and Alexis Barnes, playing the role of Second Mate, perform during dress rehearsals for the New York cast of the South Valley Civic Theater production of James and the Giant Peach.